Dr. Harriman's Answer to Officer

Denies That the Doctors Acted With a Mercenary Motive
—Offer Services Free if Epidemic Should Arise From
Use of Water—Filter Mentioned Clarified But Does Not Purify.

On Wednesday evening, Dr. P. H. Harriman, president of the Norwich Medical society, was interviewed by The Bulletin in regard to the statement of Health Officer Dr. N. B. Lewis, that the doctors of the city on Monday evening, when they favored the using of Trading Cove brook water, had acted with a mercenary motive.

"Such a case of the physicians will have no standing with me. My duty is to protect the health of the community rather than to fill the pockets of a few individuals," Dr. Harriman said.

He added that the brook water will be used, in all probability, but it will be filtered first. A New York concern having shown him the water board and a lum filter which is considered satisfactory, removing germs as well as clarifying.

Base and Contemptible.
Dr. Harriman, in reply to The Bulletin's questions relative to the above statements, said:

"The base and contemptible insinuation that the medical profession of Norwich, imbued with only mercenary motives, would knowingly make recommendations that would endanger the health of the community, would not, under ordinary circumstances, merit the serious consideration of any physician. But a previous town health officer and a previous city health officer, Dr. Lewis, recently had some Fairview reservoir water tested and the state chemist reported it satisfactory for drinking purposes. Regarding the water of the water of Trading Cove brook, which is to be peddled around should be tested and the peddler should carry the report around with him to show to citizens demanding a tangible guarantee of the purity of the water. The health officer said that no person should buy spring water from anyone unless he could be shown such an analysis.

Better Remove Contamination.
"As the use of Trading Cove brook water is a temporary measure, I believe the amount of money it would require to establish a filtration plant would be more judiciously employed in purchasing and removing if necessary the objectionable sources of contamination.

Danger from Lack of Water.
I believe the danger of disease arising from lack of water for sanitary purposes, such as were experienced in a great many places in this city during the past season, to be far greater than the danger of disease arising from the use of the waters of Trading Cove brook if properly safeguarded."

In connection with this subject, it is noticeable that the list of doctors favoring the use of the Trading Cove brook water includes the present town health officer, a previous town health officer and a previous city health officer.

WOOD CUTTING CASE
GOES TO JURY TODAY.

All But One Argument Has Been Heard in Suit of Gates vs. Arnold.

The court of common pleas was occupied for the third day with the trial of the case of Gates vs. Arnold, a suit in which damages is claimed for cutting down trees which it is claimed the plaintiff owns on his property. The boundary line is in dispute, there being a triangular section which is 33 feet wide at the base, of which both claim to be owners.

It is the claim of the defendant that there are ancient bounds or markers of stone which place where the properties are divided, and that where the plaintiff claims the line is there are no bounds at all. The plaintiff claims that there is a black oak which determines the bound, and there is such a black oak on the line he claims. All the ancient bounds were contested with one exception, and that will be made at the opening of court this morning at 10 o'clock. Judge Waller will then take the matter into consideration. There are many plans and papers in the case.

CHARITIES AND CORRECTIONS.
Second Annual Meeting at New Haven in April.

The second annual meeting of the state conference of charities and corrections will be held in New Haven on April 24, 25 and 26, at which the delegates will take up the discussion of charitable, reformatory and preventive work.

The opening session will be held on the evening of April 24, and Mayor Rice will deliver the address of welcome. Governor Baldwin will speak for the state.

At the second evening session President-emeritus Charles W. Eliot of Harvard will speak on "The Social Evil" and there will be other interesting addresses. The general headquarters of the conference will be at the United church chapel, and the evening sessions will be held in the rooms of the Historical society in Grove street.

Attorney James E. Wheeler is the treasurer of the conference.

Judge E. M. Warner of Putnam is to speak on "The Habitual Drunkard." Judge Vartan, held at New Haven, will speak on "The Social Evil."

They Are Not Irish.
Miss Holloway writes in reference to some errors in the report of her recent lecture, that she wishes to disclaim the assertion that she said Daniel Webster and Alexander Hamilton were Irish. It would be a pleasure to claim them, but the full galaxy of Irish stars needs to be cleared up. She said she was not Irish, but that she was a native of New York.

No such statement was made, nothing being said but what can be fully authenticated and has been proved by the speaker before the public attention was called. George Washington has been claimed to be of the line of Lawrence Washington, who was born in Ireland in 1694 and through the Ball family, to which his mother belonged, Irish blood can be traced in the Father of His Country. James M. Allen of the Celtic blood through several ancestors, the same as Grover Cleveland and Theodore Roosevelt. No one was claimed for Irish ancestry without having bona fide certificates to back the claim.

No fewer than 15,000 coolies were at work last November on one of the railroads under construction in China.
